Forest Ambassadors

The San Juan Mountains Association (SJMA) is hiring a crew of Forest Ambassadors to work in partnership with the U.S. Forest Service to educate visitors on forest health, “Leave No Trace” practices, conduct light trail work, track visitor numbers, and monitor forest conditions throughout the San Juan National Forest.

Field Office: Durango, CO

Project locations: San Juan National Forest, Uncompahgre National Forest

Season: Mid-May through early September, extension possible

Position Summary

SJMA is recruiting a crew of skilled and passionate public lands ambassadors who can operate independently across the San Juan National Forest (often at high elevation) to make public contacts, develop interpretive programming, conduct routine trail maintenance, help implement volunteer stewardship projects, and conduct environmental monitoring. This is a unique opportunity for applicants with prior ranger, trail crew, or youth corps experience to help protect some of Colorado’s most iconic locations while taking the next step towards a career in public lands management. The San Juan Forest Ambassadors will conduct a variety of projects under the supervision of a field manager. The crew will largely work individually and be split into teams of 2-4 as necessary to help provide an educational presence and conduct a variety of stewardship activities. Primary duties will focus on public outreach, light trail upkeep, and program development. Ambassadors will receive a broad spectrum of relevant training and will end the season with a wide range of stewardship experience. This is a life-changing opportunity for the right applicant who will make an immediate impact on the land and build lifelong memories in some of Colorado’s most spectacular landscapes.
